

Boris Feiner made the next round; his Granados was some of the most magical playing I heard.